

"A city hall is the symbolic center of a community, the seat of power and authority. We expect a certain ceremonial presence so that the rituals of civic life can be played out.

Designed by Oglesby-Greene, the Carrollton, Texas City Hall draws on local and regional sources and synthesizes them in a clean modern building that says civic architecture without boasting about it"

*David Dillon
Dallas Morning News*

CARROLLTON CITY HALL

AIA/Dallas Merit Award, 1990